INSTITUTE OF MEDICAL SCIENCES & SUM HOSPITAL

(Faculty of Medical Sciences)

SIKSHA 'O' ANUSANDHAN

(DEEMED TO BE UNIVERSITY)

SUM CENTRAL LABORATORY

(NABL accredited laboratory)

Certificate No: H-2021-0814

MC-2239

Patient Name	: Mrs. SUPHALA SWAIN
UHID	: 202605250820	Lab Registration No	: 2605281332
Age/Gender	: 59 Years/Female	Sample Collected Date	: 28-May-26 04:30 PM
Mobile No.	: 8763652855	Reporting Date	: 03-Jun-26 04:19 PM
Patient Type	: IPD	Report Type	: Final
Invoice No.	: INV/107260528111208493

IHC(4-7)

HISTOPATHOLOGY

BRIEF CLINICAL HISTORY:-
Mesenteric mass under evaluation

SPECIMEN:-
Mesenteric mass biopsy

GROSS:-
SUM 6416 / 26
Vial labelled as SUPHALA SWAIN - Received in formalin multiple fragmented linear core biopsy tissue of size ranging between 0.2-0.4cm. 6416A1,A2- fragmented bits. (NGS) [Grossed by Dr. Amrita]

MICROSCOPIC FEATURES:-
Mesenteric mass biopsy :-
Histology shows atypical glandular epithelial cells arranged in complex interconnecting pattern. Areas of necrosis seen.
On immunohistochemistry, the tumour cells are positive for CK7,PAX8 and negative for WT1,ER,napsin A,CDX2,calretinin,CK20. P53 shows wild type staining pattern.
Possibility of clear cell carcinoma was considered however, it could not be substantiated on immunohistochemistry, hence Adenocarcinoma,NOS of mullerian origin is favoured.

IMPRESSION:-Mesenteric mass biopsy :-Adenocarcinoma, NOS of Mullerian origin
Comment: A detailed clinicoradiological correlation is suggested.

****

Scan To Verify

Result Entered By : Dr. Subhashree Subhasmita Dash
Print On : 03/06/26 16:19:01
Print By : M2

Dr. SUBHASHREE SUBHASMITA DASH
MD (Pathology), DM (Oncopathology),
Assistant Professor
Oncopathology and Molecular Lab.

End Of Report

K-8, Kalinga Nagar, Bhubaneswar, Odisha
☎ : (0674) 2386281, Email: centrallab.ims@soa.ac.in
: www.ims.ac.in

N.B: This Report is not valid for Medicolegal Purpose / "If test results are not consistent with clinical observations, Please contact the laboratory for necessary action"